

flexoclean[®]

Products & Solutions for professionals like you

Flexoclean Engineering B.V.

flexoclean

Flexoclean is a company that has grown into a professional partner when it comes to the development and production of unique chemical end products.

Developing and producing fluids and being the best in it, remains our challenge. You don't just become market leader in an industry overnight. Flexoclean has built up the necessary expertise.

This knowledge is divided into various departments. This is necessary to serve our customers and partners in a proper and professional manner. These are also the necessary disciplines to remain the specialist.

We are always looking for cooperation. Cooperation is the magic word for success. Solving our clients issues is established by realising substantive open communication internally and externally with the relevant parties.

Flexoclean knows different industries require specific solutions. We have the right knowledge and contacts in order to determine the need and to be an innovative partner. We are also able to produce under a private label.

Quality and the customer always comes first. Flexoclean is ISO-9001 and ISO-14001 certified. Every Department has its own added value:

- International Sales Team, determines the need
- R&D department, takes care of innovation
- Laboratory, performs customer specific testing
- Service department, provides expert support on site
- After Sales Service, is central and continuously evaluates the progress
- Production, produces based on required quality standards
- Order entry / Logistics, ensures correct processing of orders and transportation

Why choose Flexoclean:

- Personal attention and interest
- Innovation from in-house R&D/laboratory
- Best prices due to own production
- Worldwide distribution
- Dosing systems and advice on consumer checks and ease of use
- Total knowledge of chemical legislation and water purification
- In-house service department
- Flexoclean is ISO-9001 and ISO-14001 certified

